ALLGORITHM Presents ‘Plumb Tones of Reciprocity’

A Nocturnal Journey Through Identity, Feminism, and Liminal Spaces

Los Angeles, CA – ALLGORITHM is excited to present Plumb Tones of Reciprocity, a striking new exhibition showcasing the evocative work of Katarina Holbrough. Running from March 10 through April 10, the exhibition will be available for viewing online at algorithm.com and on Artsy, offering global audiences an opportunity to experience Holbrough’s latest collection.

Through Plumb Tones of Reciprocity, Holbrough crafts a visual landscape where the tangible and the surreal intertwine. The collection captures fleeting moments that exist in the threshold between wakefulness and dream, transporting viewers into a mysterious, atmospheric realm. Figures emerge from these landscapes, their gestures and expressions guiding the audience toward introspection, urging them to question constructed notions of identity and societal roles.

The artist employs a vivid interplay of phthalo green against deep, receding black backgrounds, creating compositions that oscillate between the familiar and the uncanny. This contrast amplifies the underlying tension in her work, allowing light and shadow to shape ambiguous narratives that hover between reality and illusion. Through this dynamic tension, Holbrough invites viewers to engage in an open-ended dialogue with the work, where themes of femininity, agency, and self-perception are at the forefront.

ALLGORITHM is honored to host this compelling exhibition, reinforcing its mission to present innovative and challenging contemporary art. Plumb Tones of Reciprocity will be accessible exclusively on ALLGORITHM’s digital platforms and Artsy, making the experience available to a broad audience. Additional details can be found at algorithm.com, or inquiries can be directed to info@algorithm.com.
